Dr. Wolff, H. H. Warren, I. S. Orner, Mgrs.

Their Bill of Fare.

Two well known New Yorkers, after a lively winter of it, went together to a mineral spring establishment to revive. They called on the doctor, explaining that they wanted to cut everything out and get back on earth again. The doctor told them how to take their baths, what exercise to take and gave them a diet list with various items of food on it checked in lead pencil. They took the baths, but had a hard time of it when it came to the diet, because they liked none of the things marked. Still, they stuck it out for three days, did the best they could with the food, exercised, bathed, then went to the doctor.

"Say, doc," said one of them, "can't you loosen up a little on this diet? We are doing exactly what you told us to, but neither of us likes any of those things you checked on that bill. Can't you let us have a little something more?"

"What's that?" asked the doctor. "I say we don't like a darned one of those things you checked off for us to eat."

"For you to eat?" roared the doctor. "Why, you idiots, the things I checked off were the things you were not to eat!"—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

A Home Song.

I turned an ancient poet's book
And found upon the page,
"Stone walls do not a prison make Nor iron bars a cage."

Yes, that is true, and something more—
You'll find where'er you roam
That marble floors and gilded walls
Can never make a home.

But every house where love abides
And friendship is a guest
Is surely home, and home, sweet home,
For there the heart can rest.
—Henry van Dyke.

PLANNING FOR INAUGURATION

Of President-elect Granville of College. Committee Meets in Gettysburg to Decide on Preliminary Arrangements.

According to the arrangements made by the committee having in charge the inauguration of Dr. William A. Granville as president of Gettysburg college the event will be most notable. It is scheduled to take place on Thursday, October 20.

A meeting of the committee was held at the Eagle Hotel today when it was decided to have the exercises in a huge tent on the campus. President Hadley, of Yale University, has accepted an invitation to make one of the addresses at the inauguration and Dr. Granville will also deliver an address. Exceptionally fine music will be secured for the occasion and as soon as college opens in September a leader will be secured who will train a male chorus of from 200 to 300 voices from town, college and seminary.

The inauguration will be followed by a collation and in the evening the new president will hold a reception.

An electrical display on the campus will be one of the evening's features.

Dr. W. F. Eyster, of the class of 1889, and William Gerhart, of the class of 1841, have been invited to be present as the two oldest living graduates and it is understood that they will be here if their health permits.

Representatives will be invited from all institutions of like kind in this section and academic costume will be worn. It is planned to have excursions run to Gettysburg on the day of the inauguration.

The following members of the committee were here for today's meeting: Dr. C. W. Stork, chairman, of Hanover; Prof. Charles H. Huber, secretary, of Gettysburg; Dr. M. H. Valentine, Philadelphia; John F. Dapp, Harrisburg; Harry L. Stahler, Norris; Charles S. Duncan, Esq., Gettysburg.

RAIN IS GREATLY NEEDED

The continued dry weather is seriously affecting the crops throughout this section. Of course corn and late potatoes are the principal crops so suffering. Following the cold weather of last spring, which had delayed the growth of the corn, came a warm spell, with plenty of rain. During this time corn made rapid growth, and prospects were for an unusually good crop. The dry weather is now telling, and as corn is just about ready to tassel and the ears to shoot, it is the time that a rain is most badly needed.

Pasture fields are also showing great need of rain, and all kinds of garden truck is suffering.

ONE YARD OF EEL

Hanover Record-Herald—Burgess John A. Snelly closed his office last Friday and accompanied by R. O. Wirt, Benjamin Edmonds and Frank Alwood, left for his old home at New Oxford. There the party was joined by his brother, William Snelly and Charles Myers, two veteran disciples of Isaac Walton. The day was spent patrolling the banks of the Conowingo and the party returned with the largest eel of the season, which measured 36 inches, and which weighed four pounds, another eel weighing three pounds and five juicy catfish.

15TH CAVALRY LEAVES CAMP

War Department Orders Immediate Return of Command having Horses Suffering from Forage Poisoning. Three More Killed.

The Fifteenth United States Cavalry detachment consisting of Troops A, B and D left this afternoon for Fort Myer, Virginia, on account of the numerous cases of forage poisoning which appeared among the horses of the command. Three more animals were killed this morning making a total of seventeen in all.

The order to return to Fort Myer by rail came from the War Department at Washington on Monday afternoon following a report sent through headquarters by Colonel Joseph Garrard, of the Fifteenth. Such general alarm on account of contagion has been manifested by farmers and others that it was feared suitable camp sites could not be secured if the 150 mile march were to be taken and in addition it was not felt that the horses were in condition to make such a trip.

The disease is not regarded as infectious or contagious by authorities but nevertheless there has been a great deal of concern felt by local owners of horses. Of those that died at camp fourteen were in the Fifteenth Cavalry, two males in the Quartermaster's Department and one horse in the Second New Jersey troop. Several hales of hay which appeared all right but must have been musty are said to have caused all of the trouble.

Another big sham battle in which all the regulars and militia participated took place east of town this afternoon.

BOOSE SELLERS PLEAD GUILTY

Charles Murdoff and Robert Green, two people of Shippensburg, pleaded guilty before Cumberland County court on the charge of violating the liquor laws of the State in selling intoxicants in the dry town. Murdoff was charged with selling on Sunday and to minors, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50, costs and serve three months' imprisonment in the county jail.

Green, a negro, was sentenced to pay a fine of $50, costs and serve one year in the county jail.

Since Detective Harry J. Bentley, of Carlisle began his work on ferreting out the booze sellers of Shippensburg, there have been at least ten arrests and convictions so far. More arrests will soon follow.

TOT TAKES TROLLEY

Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Keffer, of McSherrytown, with their 4 year old daughter, Marie, took a trolley ride to Eichelberger Park, Hanover, arriving there about 6:30 o'clock. Soon after, the child disappeared among the large crowd of people. The news of a "lost child" soon spread, and everybody in the Park searched for the little one, but without success. Failing to find their child, the parents, almost heartbroken, returned to McSherrytown at 7:30 o'clock, and, on reaching their home, were greeted by the little tot who had preceded them, having boarded a car alone. The meeting was a most happy one.

PRESBYTERIAN REUNION

Arrangements for the annual Presbyterian reunion which will be held at Pen Mar Thursday have been completed by the committee and indications are that this year's meeting will be one of the largest ever held.

The committee has taken great pains in arranging railroad accommodations, etc., for the guests.

Outwitted His Critics.

A minister living in an Aberdeen-shire coast town had preached a sermon which a skipper, one of his parishioners who traded to London, thought very like one which he had read to his family the Sunday before from a volume of sermons which he had purchased in London.

On the Sunday following he, with two brother skippers, took the boat to church to ascertain the correctness of the suspicion. The minister in due time gave out a text which, true enough, the skipper found in the index of his book and pointed out to his friends.

The minister then proceeded with the sermon, going on word for word with the sermon book for a sentence or two, which greatly excited the skipper, who, with a cry on each side, kept trailing the words in his book after the minister and saying, "See till him; see till him."

The minister, who used himself to tell the story, said:
"I looked down and saw what they were at, so I turned over two leaves at once, and they never clapped out no' my tail after that."

THIRD ACCIDENT DEATH

Thomas L. Goodwin, a passenger conductor on the Pennsylvania railroad, died suddenly Monday morning at 9:15 o'clock at the Columbia hospital from injuries received on Sunday, July 17, when a passenger engine upset near Watt's station. Mr. Goodwin was running a train to take home soldiers from the Gettysburg encampment. This makes the third death from the accident; Brakeman Bixler was killed instantly and Fireman Denlinger died several hours afterward.

It was thought that Conductor Goodwin was the least injured of the four men who went down with the engine, the fourth being Engineer Ney, who is improving nicely at his home in Harrisburg. His condition was such that it was believed he would be able to leave the hospital in a few days. For the past three days he was able to be about the institution in a rolling chair.

Monday morning he arose early and after receiving his bath seated himself in the rolling chair. He suddenly complained of being short of breath and died in a few minutes.

The engine which upset at the time of the accident was being sent from Harrisburg to Columbia, from where it was to haul a train of soldiers that had been brought in over the Frederick branch from Gettysburg. The members of the crew were all on the engine and when it reached the curve near Watt's station it was running too fast to keep on the rails and upset.

Brakeman Bixler and Fireman Denlinger were buried beneath the engine, while the engineer and conductor escaped by jumping.

TO MEET IN WAYNESBORO

Edward Munson, president of the Cumberland Valley Firemen's Association, has announced that the convention next year, in May 1917, will be held in Waynesboro. When the convention met in Waynesboro some years ago the entertainment provided for the visitors proved to be one of the most delightful in the history of the organization.

BOUND TOGETHER; JUMP INTO RIVER

Man and Woman in Suicide Pact Are Rescued.

St. Louis, July 26.—Bound together with two steel chains and fifteen feet of inch hemp rope, and weighted with a valise filled with sand, Brice Wommack, fifty years old, of near Tryon, the father of five children and one of the wealthiest men of Lincoln county, and Mrs. Mollie Anderson jumped from a skiff into the Mississippi river at the Chain of Rocks as the result of a suicide pact.

Through the bravery of James Landers, a city employe at the intake tower, they were rescued. Wommack is held, charged with the theft of the skiff from which he and Mrs. Anderson leaped to what they intended to be death.

After the couple had jumped into the water and after sinking twice Mrs. Anderson hastily reversed her decision that death with Wommack was better than life without him, and she cried for help and grasped an oarlock of the boat.

While he supported the woman to whom he was bound with one arm and clung to the drifting boat with the other, Wommack attempted to argue the woman into consummating their attempt at suicide.

Crying for help, they drifted past the intake tower. Landers heard them, and by placing himself in great personal danger he managed to reach the two struggling persons and bring them ashore.

Jail For Police Chief.

Pottsville, Pa., July 26.—Because James Manley, chief of police, and John and Edward Cuff, of Shenandoah, have not paid the costs of their trial the court ordered them sent to jail. The costs, which amount to $590, were imposed in a trial in which Manley and Cuff were charged with conspiring with the election officers of the Fourth ward of Shenandoah, when 600 fraudulent votes were returned. All the defendants are office holders.

Knocked into a Cocked Hat.

The expression "knocked into a cocked hat" is familiar to every one, but perhaps its origin is not so generally known. Cocked hat was a variety of the game of bowls in which only three pins were used, set up at the angles of a triangle. When in bowling repulse at one knocked down except the three and the others the set was said to be "knocked into a cocked hat."

TICKET PUZZLES OHIO LEADERS

Senator Burton Predicts Brown or Harding.

LONGWORTH NOT A CANDIDATE

Progressive Delegates Await Decisive Word From James R. Garfield—May Agree on Candidate Before Convention Meets.

Columbus, O., July 26.—A series of conferences between the Republican leaders who are accounted supporters of the national administration was held, the result of which, it is said, may be an agreement upon a candidate for governor before the party's state convention opens.

Senators Burton and Dick, State Chairman Wade H. Ellis and Colonel Willis Bowland were among the participants.

Senator Burton expressed the belief that unless a radical change takes place either Judge O. B. Brown, of Dayton, or Warren G. Harding, of Marion, former lieutenant governor, would lead on the first ballot for governor, with Carmel Thompson, present secretary of state, a close third.

The senator added all would receive votes from the Cleveland delegation, of which he is chairman, including James R. Garfield, if the latter should be placed in nomination.

The senator expressed his opinion that no nomination would be made on the second ballot.

Granville W. Mooney, speaker of the house of representatives, will be nominated for secretary of state, providing he is not forced into the gubernatorial contest.

Delegates were awaiting word from James R. Garfield, leader of the "progressives."

As the majority of the delegates are unpledged, leaders are interested in the number of votes which Mr. Garfield will claim for the "progressives."

It is considered that this will have a direct bearing upon the platform to be adopted and hence upon the candidate for governor.

George B. Cox, chairman of the Hamilton county delegation, announced that Congressman Nicholas Longworth will not be a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination under any circumstances.

"The Hamilton county vote will go to Judge O. B. Brown to the thirtieth ballot and beyond that if necessary," said Cox. "There is no second choice. Mr. Longworth will run for congress and nothing else."

Commenting on a report that he would decline to support the nominee of the convention in case the choice should fall to one of several candidates, Mr. Cox said:

"I shall support the ticket whoever is nominated and the question as to whether he is 'wet' or 'dry' on the temperance question will not influence me."

HUSBANDS TO COOK

Ministers and Their Families to Camp For Three Weeks.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 26.—With an agreement that the men shall do all the cooking and household work, the wives of a number of ministers of the Wilkes-Barre ministerium went into camp with them at Harvey's Lake.

The party is headed by Rev. J. O. Schleicher, pastor of the Christ Lutheran church at Hazleton, the president of the ministerium. The party will live under tents and will spend three weeks at the lake.

The ministers decided it would be nice for their wives if the men of the party did the cooking and all of the household work, and each pastor will now take his turn at the stove. The wives are wondering whether they will get enough to eat.

STRIKE RIOT ENDS IN DEATH

Man Shot at Carbondale, Pa., Succumbs to Wound.

Scranton, Pa., July 26.—James Cleone, who was shot during a riot between striking section men of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad company and men employed at Carbondale, is dead.

Two men employees, named Johnson and Wilson, have been arrested and are charged with the killing. State troopers and a sheriff's posse are now on guard to prevent another outbreak.

Perfect Happiness.

"Do you really believe there is such a thing in this world as 'perfect happiness'?"

"Of course, but some other fellow as ways has it,"—Philadelphia Ledger.

"How do you distinguish the waiters from the guests in this cafe? Both wear full dress."

"Yes, but the waiters keep sober,"—Cleveland Leader.

SILLO BRINGS SUCCESS.

Saves Stock During Dry Season and Lowers Grain Bill.

On a trip up through the heart of New York state recently a dairy expert's attention was called to the fact that wherever he found the silo there was a general air of thrift about everything. The farm buildings would almost universally be in good condition, well painted and kept up in good shape, the fields would appear trim and in the state of cultivation and the cattle sleek and prosperous in appearance. On the other hand, when he struck a locality where the silo was not in evidence he could not help noticing that there was a marked contrast both in the appearance of the buildings and in that of the farms themselves.

Now, was this the result of the work of the silo, or was the silo itself the result of the generally prosperous conditions? This is a question to which there can be but one answer. The silo is a splendid aid to farm success. It comes before prosperity, not after it. The man who has a silo can keep almost as many cattle again as the one who has none, and he can make those cows pay him better.

Take it along in the summer, and grass in the pasture gets dry and hard. There is not nearly as much substance to it as there was earlier in the season. Unless something is done the cows will drop off in their milk yield and away will go the chances for success for the season. Now, if the farmer has a good silo to fall back on he can keep up his flow of milk and keep more cows and keep them better than if he were dependent on the pasture alone.

Then, too, grain is costly in these days, whether we grow it on our own farms or buy it. The silo cuts the grain bill down splendidly and thus adds to the farmer's bank account. The first cost of a silo is most always what stands between the farmer and building one of them. But if he puts up a good one it will last for many years without any expense for repairs. There is always a temptation to build a cheap silo.

That is the poorest kind of economy. Anything cheap is always expensive. It wears or gives out soon, and we are compelled to go all over it again.

Peanuts Fatten Hogs.

Experiments conducted by practical farmers showed that many tons of valuable hog go with the peanut crop and that after the peanuts have been gathered hogs can be turned in on the ground and fattened for market on what is left of the crop without other food. Several carloads of hogs fattened in this way sold at good prices last fall after having been rounded off with a ration of corn for two weeks. It takes but a few months to mature a peanut crop, and it has been found practical to follow it up with a crop of Irish potatoes on the same ground, and in some cases a second crop of the peanuts has been raised. As the peanuts will sell at from 90 cents to $1.25 per bushel and hogs will fatten on what is left after gathering the peanut crop, it makes this one of the cheapest foods for the south that can be raised, and it puts on weight fast enough to suit any hog grower.

CONGRESSMAN AMES.

Naval Board Trying His Strange Airship.

EXPECTS TO FLY WITHOUT PLANES

Congressman Butler Ames Builds Air Machine.

Annapolis, July 26.—Before a naval board consisting of Lieutenant Commander Frank Lyon and Lieutenants Charlton R. Kear and Charles P. Snyder, technical tests were made to determine the possible feasibility and value for the United States service of a new type of air machine invented by Congressman Butler Ames, of Massachusetts.

Odd and strange in shape, with two white lateral canvas cylinders revolving at great rapidity, the machine is not at all like an aeroplane and appears to provide an entirely new form of air locomotion, as far as lifting power is concerned. In its composition there has been applied a new theory of air locomotion, that upon which a base ball curves from a tangent when given a rotary motion from the hand of the thrower in addition to the propulsive or forward motion.

The propeller at the rear of the machine answers to the forward motion of the base ball. The turning cylinders are the equivalent of the rotary motion which makes the curve, and in this case give a lift instead of a side curve.

Airships sharp hereabouts are at a loss to pick a name for the strange craft. Some one has called it an aerocycle, a clumsy title, but the only one applicable, as there are no balloon attachments or planes.

Representative Ames declines absolutely to talk about his machine. But he has made no move to hide it from public view. Already it has been set up on the prow of the torpedo boat Bagley, ready for trials of its atmospheric resistance.

JEFFRIES IS SUSPICIOUS

Declares Something Was Done to Him and That Facts Will Be Known.

Avalon, Catalina Island, Cal., July 26.—"There was something the matter with me. They sure did something to me, and it will all come out some day."

These words are the first that Jim Jeffries has uttered in connection with the fight since he was taken to Oakland, a beaten man, and the first in which he has voiced any suspicion of others.

The word "drugs" he did not use, but the deliberate mind of the big giant, which has been slowly reappearing from the defeat, has come to that conclusion. He did not offer it as an excuse for the failure.

Jail Battered to Get Nigger.

Relief From Heaves.

Heaves can be greatly relieved or temporarily removed by medicine and special management. In summer grass should form the only feed, and in winter wet oat straw should be preferred to dry hay. Fowler's solution of arsenic in half ounce doses twice daily lessens the distress. Commercial medicines are also useful to that extent.

OUT OF THE GLOOM

Many a Gloomy Countenance in Gettysburg Now Lightens With Happiness.

A bad back makes you gloomy. Can't be happy with continual back-ache. The aches and pains of a bad back are mostly due to sick kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys. They have made many a happy home in Gettysburg.

Read what a grateful citizen says: Mrs. T. C. Biddle, 68 E. Middle Street, Gettysburg, Pa., says: "Two years ago I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and at the same time I am glad to confirm my former statement. A member of my family was in bad shape with kidney complaint and was laid up for eight weeks. Backache was almost constant and there were severe pains through the loins. After several remedies had been tried to no avail, Doan's Kidney Pills were procured at the People's Drug Store and their use was begun. Relief soon followed and there was a marked improvement in every way. My advice to anyone afflicted with kidney complaint is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

THEFT MAY REACH $600,000

Police of U. S. and Canada Seek Missing Cashier.

OTHERS MAY BE INVOLVED

Two New York Brokers Said to Hold Securities as Marginal Collateral For Stock Deals.

New York, July 26.—A general alarm has been sent to the police throughout the United States and Canada for the arrest of Erwin Wider, cashier of the Russo-Chinese bank.

Wider is charged by the bank's officers with having taken $70,000 in bonds from a safe deposit box.

Counsel for Wider admitted that the young man's defalcation amounted approximately to $600,000, the greater part of which was lost in stock speculation.

Wider has not been seen for a week. The bank, it is said, believes he has hidden some of the securities.

Counsel for Wider, Leon B. Ginsberg, declined to say whether he was in touch with his client. He declared that he had been ready for Wider to appear and plead at any time, but had changed his position because the bank had seen fit to make public the facts concerning the loss of the securities.

According to Ginsberg, Wider, accompanied by his attorney, had an interview a few days ago with counsel for the bank, the cashier appearing on the promise that he would not be arrested and that no steps would be taken against him until twenty-four hours afterward.

Immediately after Wider left the conference, Mr. Ginsberg said, an attempt was made to locate the young man at a certain address to which it was expected he would return, but the search was fruitless and all trace of the cashier's whereabouts was lost.

Although it was reported that negotiations between the bank and the attorney for Wider for the recovery of the securities by Wider's aid had been broken off, Mr. Ginsberg said that this was not the fact, and that he expected to have another conference with the bank's attorneys.

It is stated that two New York stock exchange houses either hold the securities or received and held them for a time while Wider's speculations were on, the young man having, it is said, put them up as marginal collateral.

Inspector Markowski, who represents the main office in St. Petersburg, said:

"You know that other persons are concerned in this besides Wider," said he, and a moment later he declared: "I want to make it clear that any one concerned with Wider in these thefts is entirely unconnected with the bank."

Wider is thirty-two years of age and was employed as cashier at a salary of $25 a week.

CRIPPEN UNDER ARREST

Alleged Murderer and Companion Seized on Steamer Montrose.

London, July 26.—The Daily Express, without indicating the source of its information, says that the suspicions aroused on the steamer Montrose, due at Montreal this week, that the boy traveling under the name of Robinson was Miss Ethel Le Neve, the companion of Dr. Crippen, were confirmed on July 22, when Rev. Mr. Robinson, otherwise Dr. Crippen, and his ostensible son were overheard discussing their escape from the police.

Captain Kendall thereupon sent several wireless messages, to which replies were received. Then Captain Kendall and two of his officers arrested the pair on July 23, Crippen on the charge of murder and Miss Le Neve on the charge of illegally impersonating a boy. The latter burst into tears when she was arrested.

Crippen was deprived of a revolver and cartridges and a penknife. The two now are in separate cabins and are closely watched. Crippen declares that he can prove his innocence. Miss Le Neve, according to the Express, is in a state of collapse and is eager to make a sworn statement.

MURDERED WITH BOMB AS HE LIES IN HAMMOCK

Assassin Throws Missile Into Yard and Escapes.

Ridgeway, Va., July 26.—Former Mayor A. H. Houseman was assassinated by a dynamite bomb, which was thrown from the street under a hammock in which he was lying.

No clue to the identity of the murderer or the cause of the crime has been found.

Mr. Houseman had been spending the hot evening sleeping in a hammock swung between two trees on the lawn in front of his residence. With out a word of warning at about 10 o'clock the dynamite bomb was thrown by someone passing along the street. It landed in the hammock at his feet, and in an instant exploded. Houseman's feet were torn away by the bursting shell, and his legs frightfully mutilated. In great agony he died an hour later.

Although the town authorities made every effort to discover the assassin no clue could be found, and it is believed he escaped without being seen by any one. The news quickly spread about town and excitement grew to a high pitch.

As mayor of Ridgeway Mr. Houseman presided over the police court of the town trying petty cases. It is thought that some person upon whom Houseman in his court had passed sentence of punishment held a grudge against him and had been awaiting an opportunity to wreak vengeance on him. The opportunity came as Houseman lay sleeping in the open air.

The terrific report attracted many persons to the scene, but the excitement was so great that apparently no one thought to search for the assassin until he had made his escape undetected.

SEEKS TO RAISE THE MAINE

Prominent Engineer Has Plan to Remove the Wreck.

Washington, July 26.—John F. O'Rourke, the engineer who bridged the Hudson at Poughkeepsie, and who drove the Pennsylvania railroad tunnel under the North river, laid before Acting Secretary of War Oliver his plan for raising the Maine from the mud of Havana harbor.

Mr. Oliver called Brigadier General William H. Bixby, chief of engineers into the conference. Then O'Rourke told the two officers the details of his plan.

It was decided to refer the O'Rourke plan to an army board of engineers which will be appointed shortly, and which will consider at the same time some other propositions for the same purpose which have been made to the war department. Mr. O'Rourke will appear before the board.

WOMEN DROWN WHILE BATHING

Vacation Trip Ends in a Double Tragedy.

SISTER ESCAPES DEATH

Mrs. Benjamin Ziff and Her Cousin, Miss Sarah Max, of Philadelphia, Lose Their Lives in River Near Weissport, Pa.

Allentown, Pa., July 26.—Two young women, one of them a resident of Philadelphia, and the other, her cousin, a former resident of that city, were drowned in the Lehigh river at Weissport, a small manufacturing town about four miles southeast of Mauch Chunk. A third young woman almost lost her life at the same time.

The women were Miss Sarah Max, who was on a visit here, and Mrs. Benjamin Ziff, aged twenty-four years, the wife of a scrap iron dealer, who formerly lived in Philadelphia, but moved here with her husband about a year ago.

Last week upon her invitation her two cousins, Miss Sarah Max, aged eighteen years, and Miss Beulah Max, aged twenty years, came on to spend a fortnight's vacation with Mrs. Ziff.

Great preparations were made by Mr. and Mrs. Ziff to entertain their guests. These included the purchase of a rowboat for excursions on the river, the Lehigh at this season being an attractive place. The Misses Max brought along bathing suits for themselves and also one for Mrs. Ziff.

While Mr. Ziff was busy with his work the three young women walked down the tow path to a spot below the station of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, where they entered the water to bathe.

At this point the river and the canal merge. The young women evidently miscalculated the depth of the water, which was very clear. After taking only a few steps in the river they got to a spot where the bottom dipped abruptly, and they sank beyond their depth.

None of the three could swim and no help was near. According to the account of Miss Beulah Max, the survivor, they struggled and screamed with all their might. After an almost superhuman effort, although she was unable to swim, Miss Beulah reached shore.

She was so exhausted she could not move to help them when she saw her sister and cousin drown. In the clear water she could see where they went down and where their bodies lay.

Hoping against hope that if the bodies were taken out at once there might be a chance for resuscitation, Miss Max half staggered and half crawled to the nearest house, 600 feet away. When she arrived there she was so exhausted that for a time she could not talk. Her condition and the signs she made, however, told plainly of the accident that had happened.

She was carried back to the river bank. There, between gasps for her breath, she told of the drowning, and as she pointed into the water the bodies of the drowned women were seen.

William Reed and William Emery dived and brought the dead women to shore. Dr. Reber was summoned, and he, with the aid of the rescuers and others, worked nearly an hour until all hope of reviving the women was given up. Then the bodies were carried to the home of Mr. Ziff.

The bereaved husband fainted and the rescued girl in a precarious condition from her experience.

WHITE SLAYER FAINTS

Man Who Sold Girl Sent to Jail at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, July 26.—Samuel Nelson, arrested here Saturday night in the act of selling Mary Lockay, a slave girl in a tenderloin house, faint ed in court when he was placed under $5000 bail and jailed to await the arrival of a federal officer.

The belief of the local police is that he is an agent of the big New York white slave syndicate. The discovery by the police that the girl has three brothers in Camden has started a search in that city and she will be held until they can be found.

The girl told a pitiful story of her meeting and acquaintance with Nelson, whom she claimed lured her from a place as waitress that she had secured on her arrival in this country, and threatened to beat her if she disobeyed her orders to inform her prospective purchasers that she was used to a life of ill fame. Witness also testified that Nelson had boasted of having been in the business for several years, but the man denied this.

Cashier and $500 Gone.

THE PEANUT.

It Starts Growing in the Open, but Finishes Under Ground.

Most people of the north suppose that peanuts grow, like potatoes, on the roots of the vine. Others with equal confidence state that they hang from the branches like pea pods. Both are right, and both are wrong. The peanut starts in the air and sunlight above ground in the shape of a flower growing at the end of a long tube. After the fall of blossoms this tube, or peduncle, elongates and bends downward, pushing itself inches into the ground. If for any reason it cannot do this it dies in a few hours. But if it succeeds in burying itself to its own satisfaction the ovary at the base of the peduncle slowly enlarges and forms the familiar pod, which is therefore dug out of the ground.

Scattered over the roots of the plant, however, are numerous warts or tubercles, in which, by the aid of a good microscope, can be seen myriads of minute organisms. These bacteria-like bodies, though they get their living from the plant, contribute materially to its supporting by collecting nitrogen from the air and holding it in storage, so to speak, supplying it to the plant as need requires. These wonderful little storehouses often contain, by analysis, a greater supply of this indispensable fertilizer than the surrounding soil.

The native country of the peanut has long been a matter of dispute, but the department of agriculture states that the weight of evidence seems to be in favor of Brazil. Thus the peanut is added to the four other plants of great importance that America has given to the world—namely, cotton, Indian corn, tobacco and the potato.

Making Both Ends Meet.

A certain colonel somewhere in the south (no matter where) was in the habit of telling yarns and greatly exaggerating. He had a negro servant who corroborated everything his master told. One day the colonel had some gentlemen to dinner, and they were enjoying some fine venison very much. The colonel said: "Yes, I went hunting the other day and saw a fine buck. I took a good sight at him and shot him through the head, and the bullet went through his hind leg."

The gentlemen looked at each other a little mystified. The negro scratched his head and at last said: "Yes indeed, gentlemen: just as massa raised the gun to shoot de buck he raise his hind leg and scratch his ear, and the bullet went through the head and right through de hind leg." The gentlemen looked more satisfied.

After the guests had gone the negro said to his master, "Gorry mighty, master, next time you tell one of dem yarns do get the ends closer together. I had hard work to make both ends meet."

A Light Retort.

"How did the trouble in the family start?"
"The wife, it seems, got tired of her husband's heavy wit."
"Why didn't she simply make a light retort?"

CURE FOR SUMMER COMPLAINT

At no time of the year are the bowels put to a severer test than during the hot weather. Thousands become afflicted with "summer complaint," or running off of the bowels. The cause very often lies in the drinking of impure water, the eating of unripe fruit or tainted food. But whatever the cause it is useless to try to cure the trouble with an astringent remedy, an opiate, or salts and such things. The bowels need not only a thorough cleansing out, but the stomach needs strengthening and toning, so that they may have a new start. All this is best obtained by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a great stomach, liver and bowel cleanser. It will quickly stop the unnatural passages, which are so weakening and give rise to vertigo. Thousands of families are using it steadily and thereby avoid all digestive troubles summer and winter. Buy a 50 cent or $1.00 bottle today of your druggist and you will be surprised at the quick and lasting effects. You will find it a mild, gentle laxative, agreeable to young and old. Those who have never tried it can obtain a SAMPLE FOR A TEST FREE OF CHARGE by sending their address to

A Friend in Need.

A pedestrian was accosted late one night by a very drunken man who earnestly requested him to go through his pockets and see if he had any money. The gentleman searched all of the pockets of the inebriate and found nothing but a pipe, some tobacco and some clove. The drunken man then said: "I knowed you wouldn't find nothing. But I'm much 'bliged anyway. Done me great favor. Goo' night."

The citizen then was interested to know why this singular request had been made and received the following explanation:

"You see I started home with $40 an' ought to taken it home to wife, but met some of th' boys, an' it's all gone. See what I'm after?"
"No, not at all."

"Well, I'm conscientious. If I tell her I spent it she'll gimme blazes. She's awful if provoked about little things. If I tell her I lost it she won't believe me. She'll go home an' tell her man went through my pockets, an' I'll describe you an' how you done it, an' she'll feel sorry for me, an' she'll put detectives after you. Great scheme! Ha! Ha! Goo' night. You're a goo' fel'. Goo' night."

A Generous Offer.

During the days when polygamy was the universal rule among the Mormons a woman doctor from one of the eastern states went into one of the Mormon communities to practice her profession. She was a pleasant lady as well as skillful, and her patients were very fond of her.

"How I wish," said one of them, "that I could convert you to our religion. If you would only marry my husband and come and live with us."

The doctor fled in horror to another friend, to whom she told the story. Her self respect began to revive, and she felt comforted, seeing how the eyes of her listener blazed.

"I don't wonder you feel as you do," replied the friend indignantly. "The idea! Why, that Mr. — is perfectly horrid! What you want to do is to marry my husband and come and live with us."

SAVED

By T. DEWITT BOWMAN

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Farmer Insley was tossing about in bed vainly trying to sleep. At last he arose, went to the window and looked out. The moon was at the full, illuminating everything in sight—namely, the undulating plain, scattered dwellings and the meeting house more than 200 years old. Suddenly Insley opened his eyes wider than they had been opened during his sleeplessness. A light passed across one of the windows of the church. He went to the door, opened it and stood looking out. All was still. Not a house was lighted save by the moon. Not a living creature was in sight.

The light appeared again. This time it was stationary for a few seconds, then seemed to have been extinguished. Insley hurried into his clothes and ran as fast as his legs would carry him to the church. As he proceeded he thought that he had better see than be seen. He knew the church well and felt confident that he could enter by a basement window. A light was cast a shadow on his approach. Finding the window, he crawled in stealthily, and, guided by sufficient light from without to enable him to see his way, he ascended a staircase leading up to the vestibule. Opening a door only so far as would enable him to peep into the body of the church, he saw a strange sight.

Two men were standing by a window, the moon shining full in their faces. The one was young and of city mein—that is, so far as Insley could see by moonlight alone. The other was dressed in the garb of a clergyman. The men were talking, but he could not hear what they said. Now and again the younger man would take out his watch and look at the time impatiently.

Then Insley heard a knock at the church door. The men heard it, too, and the younger hurried to the front of the church. The watcher, that he might not be seen, descended the stairs, but not so far that he could not know what passed in the vestibule. The young man opened the church door and admitted a woman. There was no light for him to see by, but he could hear.

"Sweetheart," said the man, "what has kept you?"
"I heard father tossing about in bed and dared not venture."
"Well, come. It will soon be over, and then you'll feel better. You are all unstrung."
"Oh, I can't."

These were the last words Insley heard, for the man drew the girl into the body of the church and toward the other end. Insley entered and passed in shadow part way down an aisle entering one of the high pews. The two men and the woman were in shadow, but presently Insley saw one of the men and the woman standing in a flood of moonlight, with their backs toward him, while the man in clerical garb faced him and them. The clergyman held in his hand a lamp or candle covered so that its light could only shine on the page of a book he held in his hand.

Insley knew that a marriage service was about to be performed. Whether it was a case for interference or one to suffer to proceed he knew not. But he had passed the romantic age when one sympathizes with those who would wed in opposition to their parents' wishes and was not minded to permit the marriage without being informed of the circumstances attending it. One thing made him suspicious. The pastor of the church was a large man, while this one was of medium height and slender. Besides, the pastor was not a person to wed couples in his church at midnight and if he did would not require a light upon his book by which to read the marriage service.

True enough, a marriage service was begun. Insley could hear every word. When the clergyman asked if any one had aught to say why the two should not be joined together in wedlock Insley said solemnly:

"I forbid."

At the same time he dropped down into the pew. He did not see the commotion his words produced, but he heard a woman's cry. Then there were indistinguishable sounds and a muffled voice.

"We'd better get out. Some one's got on to it. You'll be judged for this."

"So will you."

Insley heard steps—men's steps—hurrying past him in the aisle and passing out of the front door. As soon as all was still he went down to where he had seen the bridal party standing. His foot pressed something lying in the dark on the floor. Stooping down, he felt a woman's form. Raising her, he carried her to where the moonlight shone upon her face.

Great heavens, she was his own daughter!

She came to herself, and by the light she saw him caxing down upon her with a mingled expression of surprise and pain.

"Father?"
"Reassie!"
"Is it a dream?"

"No, dear heart, not a dream, but a reality. Some one from above—possibly your mother—sent me here to save you."

He carried her home in his arms. It was the old story of a villain from the city seeking by a mock marriage to lead astray a simple country girl.

CONSTRUCTION OF BRICK HIGHWAYS

They Are Durable If Properly
Put Together.

PREPARING CEMENT FILLER.

After Road Is Completed It Should Be Rolled Thoroughly With a Roller Weighing Not Less Than Three Nor More Than Five Tons—Lay Blocks on Clean, Hard Sand Cushion.

Roadways of brick, if properly constructed, will prove to be as lasting as highways built of any other material. A good method for towns contemplating the construction of brick roads to follow is one used by road experts during a recent experimentation, which is as follows:

All brick should be strictly pavers of the size commercially known as block, the widths of which should not vary more than one-eighth of an inch. They

HIGHWAY OF BRICK.

(From Good Roads Magazine, New York.) Should be thoroughly annealed, tough and durable, regular in size, shape and evenly burned.

When broken the block should show a dense stone-like body, uniform in color inside, free from lumps of uncrushed clay, lime, air pockets, cracks or marked laminations; kiln marks or surface cracks must not exceed three-sixteenths of an inch in depth.

All blocks so distorted in burning as to lay unevenly in the pavement should be rejected.

All blocks should be tested for abrasion and absorption, the limits of loss by abrasion test and amount of absorption to be determined by the engineer in charge of the work.

The filler should be composed of one part each of clean sharp sand and portland cement. The sand should be dry. The mixture, not exceeding one-third bushel of the sand, together with a like amount of cement, should be placed in the box and mixed dry until the mass assumes an even and unbroken shade. Then water should be added, forming a liquid mixture of a consistency of thin cream.

The sides and edges of the brick should be thoroughly wet before the filler is applied by being gently sprinkled.

The mixture must be removed from the box to the street surface with a scoop shovel, all the while being stirred in the box as the same is being thus emptied. The box for this purpose should be 4 feet 8 inches long, 30 inches wide and 14 inches deep, resting on legs of different lengths, so that the mixtures will readily flow to the corner of the box, the bottom of which should be six inches above the pavement. This mixture from the moment it touches the brick should be thoroughly swept into the joints.

Two such boxes should be provided in case the street is twenty feet or less in width, exceeding twenty feet in width, three boxes should be used. The work of filling should thus be carried forward in line until an advance of fifteen to twenty yards has been laid, when the same force and appliances shall be turned back and cover the same space in like manner, except to make the proportion two-thirds portland cement and one-third sand.

To avoid the possibility of thickening at any point there should be a man with a sprinkling can, the head perforated with small holes, sprinkling gently the surface ahead of the sweepers.

Within one-half to three-quarters of an hour after this last coat is applied and the grout between the joints has fully subsided and the initial set is taking place the whole surface must be slightly sprinkled and all surplus mixture left on the tops of the brick swept into the joints, bringing them up flush and full.

After the joints are thus filled flush with the top of the brick and sufficient time for hardening has elapsed, so that the coating of sand will not absorb any moisture from the cement mixture, one-half inch of sand shall be spread over the whole surface, and in case the work is subjected to a hot summer sun an occasional sprinkling, sufficient to dampen the sand, should be followed for two or three days.

After brick in pavements are inspected and the surface is swept clean the pavement shall then be rolled with a roller weighing not less than three nor more than five tons.
